Wins for Best in Sales and Marketing, Service and Support, and Dealer Training

Chicago – June 2007 – Allsteel Inc. has been recognized by the Office Furniture Dealers Alliance (OFDA) for receiving three Dealers' Choice Circle of Excellence Awards, all recently presented at this year's NeoCon World Trade Fair. The awards are based on the OFDA Dealer Satisfaction Index survey, created six years ago, designed to recognize best of class performance as well as identify topics of dealer concerns.

Allsteel won in the Sales and Marketing, Service and Support, and Dealer Training categories. These awards were presented to Allsteel for achieving "outstanding dealer satisfaction" in all the above noted areas.

"Dealers are integral to Allsteel's success. They are on the front line, working side by side with customers every day," says Malisa Bryant, Allsteel Vice President, Sales. "We strive to provide them with the products and support they need deliver relevant, cost-effective workplace solutions to their customers. We're honored to be recognized by our dealers."

The survey asked dealers to evaluate up to four of their manufacturer business partners in six key categories: training, product lines, service and support, sales and marketing, management and technology. OFDA received more than 480 verified dealer responses with 50 different office furniture manufacturers receiving evaluations.
