Allsteel Earns Honors at University

This University is one of the Top 100 teaching and research universities in the world. They wanted a flexible solution to keep up with growth for 462,000 sq. ft. of expansion space in their new downtown campus location. Concensys® and Concensys Freestanding provided the University with a solution that is easy to install, easy to use, and will be easy to reconfigure for future needs.

Reason for Success As a public institution, the University needed to be sensitive to costs of their new office solution in the downtown campus. The durability of Concensys Freestanding with Concensys panels proved to be the best value.

To help provide a custom touch, employees could choose from the wide range of Persona™ storage designs to best match their individual needs, as well as Extensions™ work tools for maximum efficiency.

Concensys panels stack in a wide range of heights, which made open-yet-private spaces possible. Because the solution is flexible, the Allsteel dealer can use the same inventory for a variety of needs, from administration to academic support to research groups.

Project management was another critical factor. The client's changes in construction schedules, tight stairways, and limited elevator usage meant installation timing was a challenge. The Allsteel dealer team was able to react quickly with Allsteel's guarantees of delivery of Concensys Freestanding in a two-hour window and offering the option of shipping Concensys Freestanding and Concensys in five days of an order change.

"Allsteel's products provided the durability and flexibility that a continuously evolving and changing group like the University insists upon," said the Allsteel dealer. "Now the Allsteel dealer and Allsteel have been selected as their partner in their Standardization Program."

Concensys is everything you need, along with plenty of welcome details, so you can create a productive, inviting office, without breaking a sweat.
